Why NSW Treasury

NSW Treasury leads the economic, jobs and investment conversation across New South Wales (NSW). From its position at the centre of government, Treasury drives the economic development strategy to guide the State's growth for the benefit of the people who live, work and study in NSW. Its work includes boosting trade, investment and tourism, developing industry, supporting jobs growth, improving service delivery to the community and increasing living standards, now and into the future.

Information about the structure and functions of the NSW Treasury can be sourced on our website: <https://www.treasury.nsw.gov.au> (Refer to "About Treasury" and "Our Treasury Team").

The Team

The Economic Strategy and Productivity (ESP) Group within NSW Treasury has responsibility in shaping the economic strategy and narrative in NSW and influencing the future direction state federal relations and tax policy in NSW. The Group delivers economic and revenue forecasting; provides advice on economic policy and reform such as taxation and productivity policy; and engages with Commonwealth, State and Territories on key national reforms and issues. The NSW Small Business Commissioner and NSW Productivity Commissioner are also anchored in the ESP Group.

The ESP Group comprises five areas:

The Economic Strategy Division is responsible for advising and promoting sound economic policy within the NSW and Commonwealth governments, to enhance the economic performance and welfare of NSW.

The Economic and Revenue Analysis Division is responsible for monitoring and forecasting the NSW economy and revenues, providing policy advice on the State's revenue measures and strategies, and engaging with other jurisdictions on federal financial relations.

The Office of the Chief Economist is responsible for bolstering the capacity of NSW Treasury to lead economic reform and debate by advising the NSW government on state, national and global economic issues, analysis and trends.

The Productivity Commissioner is responsible for driving productivity improvements that will enhance the lives of all residents, businesses and communities in NSW including driving microeconomic reform and targeting regulatory roadblocks.

The NSW Small Business Commissioner is responsible for supporting the sustainability of small businesses in NSW by providing support and information, strategic and procedural advice, confidential mediation and dispute resolution services and speaking up for small business within government.

Roles are available across the Economic and Revenue Analysis Division, which includes the Macroeconomic Analysis, Research & Strategy, Revenue Forecasting, State Revenue Policy, and Federal Financial Relations teams.

Primary purpose of the role

A Economist/Policy Analyst in the Economic and Revenue Analysis Division works with senior colleagues to contribute to the delivery of high quality advice and analysis on economic developments and forecasts, the State's tax revenues, including the impact of changes to tax policy, and federal financial relations including horizontal fiscal equalization, to support government decision making, policy development and implementation. Roles may include analysing economic and fiscal trends, developing forecast models for current and proposed tax policies, and quantitative and qualitative analysis in support of the conduct, planning, advising and reporting of NSW finances. Roles may focus on quantitative matters associated with economic and revenue monitoring and forecasting, or on policy development and federal financial relations.

Key accountabilities

- To provide timely and professional advice on revenue and economic policies, collections, forecasts, trends, risks, and reforms, including in the context of federal financial relations to advance NSW priorities.
- Undertake the development and implementation of research tools such as forecasting techniques and models to support the above advice.
- Undertake complex macroeconomic research and analysis to support sound economic and fiscal management.
- Assist in the development of robust and consistent revenue and economic forecasts to underpin Treasury's economic and fiscal advice.
- Identify and advise on the management of risks to the state's economic and fiscal forecasts.
- Provide expert policy analysis and advice that complies with best practice guidelines, integrates relevant input from sources internal and external to the Department, and considers the broader policy and operating environment.
- Liaise and collaborate with other government agencies to ensure that economic and revenue estimates and policy advice are informed by the best available information.
- Ensuring timetable and critical deadlines are met and there is coordination with other functional areas in Treasury.
- Preparation of Ministerial correspondence and advice on policy proposals with potential impacts on NSW revenues and the economy.

Key challenges

- Adapting to working on a wide range of issues in a complex, dynamic environment with incomplete and imperfect information
- Managing a dynamic environment with conflicting stakeholder interests
- Delivering high quality work under tight timeframes
- Communicating complex policy or forecasting issues in a way that is simple to understand and tailored for the audience
