Agency overview

The Department of Regional NSW was formed in 2020 as a central agency for regional issues. The Department is responsible for building resilient regional economies and communities, strengthening primary industries, managing the use of regional land, overseeing the state's mineral and mining resources and ensuring government investment in regional NSW is fair and delivers positive outcomes for local communities and businesses.

The NSW Department of Primary Industries (NSW DPI) supports the development of profitable primary industries that create a more prosperous NSW and contributes to a better environment through the sustainable use of natural resources.

DPI Fisheries, a Branch of NSW DPI, is responsible for administration of the Fisheries Management Act 1994 and the Marine Estate Management Act 2014. The primary objective of the Fisheries branch is to deliver on expectations relating to both economic growth and careful stewardship of our aquatic resources. The Branch leads NSW fisheries and aquaculture industry management, development and conservation through research, policy and regulatory compliance to foster sustainable and economically viable commercial, recreational and aboriginal fishing and aquaculture sectors. The Branch manages the protection of key fish habitats and marine biodiversity, threatened species, oversees fish stock conservation.

Primary purpose of the role

Contribute to the design, implementation, field and laboratory work, required under fisheries scientific research programs and contribute to the development and coordination of research projects that are part of the Fisheries NSW Strategic Research Plan 2014-2018.

Key accountabilities

- Supervise and undertake fisheries scientific research programs including training and directing staff in experimental protocols and ensuring relevant experiments and activities are completed within budget and within appropriate time and quality standards.
- Maintain databases, manipulate data and undertake comprehensive statistical analyses ensuring optimal accuracy and integrity of data.
- Provide information, advice and recommendations to the Director of Fisheries Research, Research Leader and Senior Scientists as requested or anticipated; provide accurate and timely advice to key stakeholder groups, including fisheries managers.
- Publish scientific findings; present research findings to fisheries management, industry and community groups; produce and publish written reports and scientific papers in international journals.
- Manage reporting staff and external contractors to assist with field and laboratory work; develop and manage individual technician work-plans and facilitate their ongoing professional development.
- Manage the Fisheries Research Unit's operations including preparing, reviewing and reporting on budgets, staff allocation, work schedules and staff outcomes.
- Represent NSW DPI Fisheries at research conferences, stakeholder meetings, etc and promote the research activities of NSW DPI Fisheries at external events to ensure the integration of science in industry and government planning.

Key challenges

- Conducting, analysing and validating results of research projects and developing new research projects by undertaking forward planning and consultation that will meet anticipated information needs into the future.
- Achieving and maintaining scientific excellence and scientific papers with research results recognised as being objective and without bias; ensuring that rigorous science is done within the ambit of DPI Fisheries.
- Contributing to the development and maintenance of existing collaborative links with appropriate external research institutions as well as other NSW agency researchers to ensure maximum efficiency in the use of research resources and accessing an appropriate share of research funds by producing relevant, high quality and cost effective research proposals and grant applications.
