Agency overview

The NSW Education Standards Authority (NESA) works with the NSW community to drive improvements in student achievement.

We are an independent statutory authority reporting to an independent Board and the NSW Minister for Education and Early Childhood Learning.

Making sure all children and young people in NSW leave school ready to take advantage of life's opportunities, as well as to rise to its inevitable challenges, is at the heart of what we do.

We achieve this by supporting all school sectors (public, catholic and independent) to deliver the best possible outcomes for students through:

- high-quality syllabuses.
- assessment, including managing the HSC and NAPLAN.
- teaching standards, such as the accreditation of teachers to work in NSW schools.
- school environments, including setting and monitoring school standards.

Primary purpose of the role

The Digital Designer contributes to the development and delivery of online learning courses in NESA's Learning Management System (LMS) in line with established objectives.

Key accountabilities

- Communicate with key stakeholders about project objectives and coordinate project timelines
- Prepare and maintain project documentation for reporting, monitoring and evaluation purposes

- Source, collate and compile data and information to identify emerging issues and track and report on project progress against established milestones and deliverables
- Undertake research and analysis, identifying trends and preparing project briefs, to support informed decision-making and planning

Key challenges

- Leading learning design activities with internal and external stakeholders
- Delivering a range of project management and support services for the development and delivery of online courses given tight deadlines, limited resources and the need to manage competing priorities

Essential requirements

Demonstrated experience in the design and development of online courses in a Learning Management System.

Capabilities for the role

The NSW public sector capability framework describes the capabilities (knowledge, skills and abilities) needed to perform a role. There are four main groups of capabilities: personal attributes, relationships, results and business enablers, with a fifth people management group of capabilities for roles with managerial responsibilities. These groups, combined with capabilities drawn from occupation-specific capability sets where relevant, work together to provide an understanding of the capabilities needed for the role.

The capabilities are separated into focus capabilities and complementary capabilities.

Focus capabilities

Focus capabilities are the capabilities considered the most important for effective performance of the role. These capabilities will be assessed at recruitment.

The focus capabilities for this role are shown below with a brief explanation of what each capability covers and the indicators describing the types of behaviours expected at each level.
